

beloved daughter

surrender is life's key

15 march 2018

it's your 50th birthday today, my dear - it is hard to direct my congratulations to the place you are now - or can it be I am wrong, since you are in the hearts of so many - loved by as many as you were this painting underlines that love - more beautiful statement I could not find you longed for freedom - jumped to the other side leaving a message as short as deep - surrender, surrender is life's key both figurative paintings are made by janpeter muilwijk - the painting in the center was made by katja bosch - thanks to www.ommattia.nl
